- Promote research careers in Québec;
- Develop strong ties between the Fonds de recherche du Québec and the province's student researcher community.

Note :

1. For the purpose of this competition, the term "student researcher" will be used to describe students, graduate students and postdoctoral fellows. The term is not a new designation for any of the three Fonds' programs.

2. AWARD

- $1,000 awarded every month by each Fonds;
- Dissemination of an overview of the recipient's work (article, book or chapter, patent, creation or performance) as well as a photo of the recipient will be featured on the website of the awarding Fonds.

3. COMPETITIONS

- Every month, each Fonds will reveal the name of a recipient.

4. APPLICATIONS

Applications may only be submitted by student researchers.

5. ELIGIBILITY

- Student researchers whose projects have been released to the public for less than seven months at the competition deadline are eligible. The project must be in the form of an article (in a journal with an editorial review board), a book or book chapter, a patent, a creation or a performance of which the applicant is the author. Oral presentations and posters are not eligible;
- Articles that are in press or submitted for review are not eligible;
- Articles published electronically are eligible. Eligibility will be determined based on the electronic publication date; in the case of publication in paper form following publication of the electronic version, eligibility will be determined on the online publication date;
- For publications with several authors, the following rules apply:
  - If several student researchers collaborated on a project in the same capacity and the published article explicitly states that the authors all equally contributed to the work, the student researchers shall share the award;
  - If several student researchers collaborated on a project in the same capacity (without being mentioned in the article) and their contributions are explicitly stated by the applicant on the application form, the student researchers shall share the award.
- When submitting an application, the student researcher must be enrolled in an educational institution, affiliated university centre or research centre in Québec. Québec students enrolled in an institution outside Québec are also eligible. In this case, proof of citizenship or resident status is required in addition to the document attesting the registration as a student in an educational institution or, in the case of a postdoctoral fellow, an attestation from the applicant's host organization. (see section 8 - Application Process);
- One application per student researcher per competition. A project may only be submitted once;
- A student researcher may receive the award only once.

6. EVALUATION CRITERIA

- Demonstration of the project's contribution to the advancement of knowledge in a sector covered by one of the three FRQ;
- Demonstration of the project's social relevance and/or benefits;
- Demonstration of the ability to explain the subject matter in plain language.

The quality of the written language, the applicant's actual contribution to the project and, in the case of an article, the quality of the journal, will be taken into consideration.
